

WESTWARD BOUND FOOTBALL LOVERS

Game Between Randolph-Macon and Hampden-Sidney Will Attract Many.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Ashland, Va., November 11.—After one of the hardest weeks' work of his career as a coach, Rice Warren tonight has the Randolph-Macon football squad in shape for their game with Hampden-Sidney in Richmond Saturday. On last Monday the Yellow Jackets defeated William and Mary in Williamsburg. Every afternoon since then the team has been put through hard scrimmages and signal practice. The coach reports every man in condition for a gruelling contest. Every effort will be made to stop the heretofore victorious progress of Yancey's men.

Randolph-Macon's mainstay is Captain Harry Rowe, at right half back. Rowe is nineteen years old, weighs 150 pounds and is the fastest man in college. He is an unerring defensive player, a good ground giver and runs a great interference for his other backs. Hopkins, at full back, is a new man. He is hefty and is a reliable back at hitting the line. He plays defensive half, all times. Wray, at quarterback, is a left half, is a lightweight, tipping the scales at 135 pounds. He is the team's punter, and has shown great improvement in the last week in his work in this direction.

At quarter back is another youngster, Frank Bane, who weighs but 130. Bane is a speedy little player and an unerring tackler. He has played sectional half in his work. Wray, two years, Simpson, on left end, is one of the old men on the team, and is a fast, heavy man. He is right, 140 pounds, but is reliable in all his work. B. B. Bane, on right end, is heavier, but not so fast nor brilliant in his work. He is a steady end and always on the job.

The tackles, Turner, Copley and Woodhouse, are all powerful men. None of them are fast but all are splendid defensive workers, and know the game well. Chapman and Jordan are both good mates to their tackles, big and strong, and at all times. Wray, at Woodhouse, at center, is possibly the most aggressive player on the whole team. He is small, but stocky, and absolutely reliable in his work. The substitute are Fisher, Fox and Wray. The first mentioned is a stocky built player, with plenty of force and strength in his work. Wray is a heavyweight, but very fast, and is a terrific defensive player. He alternates with Hopkins at full back. The two are about equal in ability.

Ives is a half back of some dodging ability, and fast and heavy. He is also a first-class punter. Dyerle, subline, is husky, but not so aggressive as the regular men.

This is the team on which Randolph-Macon has pinned her hopes for Saturday. There is a better spirit in college and on the team than has been shown here for years. The entire student body will witness the game.

The time of the game has been changed from 4 o'clock as first advertised, to 3 o'clock. The officials will be C. M. Barry, of Georgetown, referee; Landon Wallford, of University of Virginia, umpire; S. C. Blackiston, coach of the Medical College of Virginia, field judge; R. T. Wilson, of Petersburg, head linesman. Four fifteen-minute quarters will be played, as is required in all championship games.

The Randolph-Macon squad will leave Ashland at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and stay at Murphy's Hotel until the game.

PRESENT
NEW FICTION
OF UNUSUAL QUALITY

By LUCIA CHAMBERLAIN
Author of The Coast of Chance

Son of the Wind

Miss Chamberlain's new story is easily her most original, most distinctively different, and as delightful as it is novel. The idea of having a romantic little Southern girl tell a series of love stories as they look to her is entirely fresh. It is accomplished not only with perfect good taste, but with an incessant flow of humor. The combination of sentiment and humor is irresistible. There is at least one healthy laugh in every paragraph, at least one gleam in every sentence and a love story in every one of a dozen chapters. Grown-ups, for whom the book is intended, will find in Ann a fund of fun. She is a discovery and a joy. Illustrated by Paul Meylan. Price, $1.50 postpaid.

WOMAN WILL TESTIFY AGAINST MRS. MARTIN

Commissioner Appointed to Take Evidence of
Mrs. Glasscock in Kentucky—Proceedings
Adjourned Until Next Wednesday.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Newark, N. J., November 11.—The insanity proceedings in the case of Mrs. Caroline B. Martin were to-day adjourned until next Wednesday, to allow the taking of testimony of a witness in Kentucky by a commission.

Court Stenographer Fred L. Salmon was named commissioner to take the testimony, and he will leave for Kentucky on Sunday night.

Accompanying him will be Special Assistant Prosecutor Hook, who will represent the State during the taking of the deposition, which has to do with actions of Mrs. Martin at Soule College, Murfreesboro, Tenn., during the years 1893-4.

The witness to be examined is Mrs. A. F. Glasscock, of Mount Carmel, Ky., who, during the years named, was principal of the college and in that capacity was thrown in contact with Mrs. Martin. Riker & Riker, who represent the Wardlaw family in the insanity hearing, will not send a representative to Kentucky, as Judge Archer A. Phlegar, of Bristol, Va., who is looking after their interests in the South, lives at a short distance from Mount Carmel, and has appointed J. H. Power, an attorney of Flemington, Ky., to represent the family at the time the deposition is taken.

Joins in Conference.

Mrs. Martin reached the courthouse at 10:30 o'clock and was at once taken to Judge Ten Eyck's chambers, where a conference between the Judge, Mrs. Martin, Prosecutor Mott, Special Assistant Hood and Adrian Riker and Chauncey H. Bessley took place.

The conference had to do with the advisability of sending a commission to Mount Carmel, Ky., to take the deposition of Mrs. A. F. Glasscock. Mrs. Martin, it is understood, vigorously opposed the appointment of a commission to take the testimony of Mrs. Glasscock, who is ill and unable to make the trip North.

Mrs. Glasscock was a teacher at Soule College at the same time as Miss Mary E. Van Wagenen, the Chicago teacher, who testified early in the trial, and it is understood that Mrs. Glasscock's testimony will be to the same effect—that is, that Mrs. Martin was irrational at all times, and especially so in money matters.

Later, Rev. John G. Wardlaw and Mrs. Bessie G. Spindle, the applicants who seek to have Mrs. Martin declared insane, joined in the conference behind closed doors in the Judge's chambers, but were unable to persuade Mrs. Martin to consent to the appointment of a commission.

It was finally decided to send a commission to take the testimony. It is said that Mrs. Martin insists that personal counsel be furnished her to look after her interests while she is on the witness stand. Judge Ten Eyck has repeatedly told the aged woman during the course of the hearing that her interests would be properly protected at all times.

Will Soon Be Witness.

It had been expected that Mrs. Martin would herself take the stand in her own behalf as soon as court opened this morning, but the fact that Dr. William V. Mabon, superintendent of the Metropolitan State Hospital, for the insane, at Ward's Island, Manhattan, one of the experts who thinks Mrs. Martin is insane, was unable to be present, and for this reason the examination of Mrs. Martin was postponed until next week, when it is expected she will furnish some spectacular testimony in her own behalf.

Paying close attention to every word she utters will be Dr. J. Henry Clark, Dr. William H. Hoke and Dr. Christopher C. Belting, all of Newark, who have examined Mrs. Martin on frequent occasions and believe her sane, and Dr. Walter S. Washington, of Newark; Dr. Harris A. Cotton, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton, and Dr. Mabon, of New York City, who have given as their opinion that Mrs. Martin is insane.

Non-expert opinion around the house by those who have watched the actions and heard the frequent remarks of the woman during the course of the hearing is divided.

About evenly split are the court attendants and newspaper men, who have been present every day. Whether warrant for her arrest was issued, and W. R. Morton, immigration inspector at the port of Norfolk, was instructed to serve the document, which he did.

The defendant, through her attorney, Samuel H. Kunzsch, of New York, instituted habeas corpus proceedings in the United States District Court at Norfolk, asking for her release from custody. The petition was granted, Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., writing the opinion. From this decision the government now appeals through the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The government sets forth that the said Sadie M. Sprung, alias Mandelbaum, alias Baum, came to this country for the purpose of engaging in business prohibited by a statute of the United States, which statute also, under the premises, makes her a deportable alien.

The government further holds that the defendant in the original proceedings continued to violate the law after she had returned to Europe and again in this country.

The appellee, Sadie M. Sprung, through her counsel, answers that she was not a deportable alien under the statute; that she is the lawfully wedded wife of a citizen of the United States and that under the law she should be relieved from further prosecution at the hands of the government.

The case was argued yesterday before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Lewis appeared for the appellant and Samuel H. Kunzsch, of New York, for the appellee. The case was submitted.

This is one of the famous white slave cases which come under the act of Congress. The decision of the court will be far reaching in its effect and will establish a precedent in similar cases now pending.

Honor Colored Man.

Librarian W. W. Scott, of the Supreme Court of Appeals, has started a subscription for the purpose of erecting a neat monument over the grave of Edward Brown, the colored employee of the court, who died recently after many years of service. Members of the bar practicing before the Supreme Court will be invited to contribute, sending their contributions to Clerk H. Stewart Jones.
